COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

At the time the voters are called upon to decide the outcome of zoning regulations we will have an article to decide on the administration of the sewage system. The selectmen and manager will have a recommendation as to how they feel this should be done. At the present we are in contact with persons who have knowledge of the subject and how it may apply to Bethel.

There are many advantages to a District as well as many disadvantages. These factors need careful consideration before a final decision is reached.

There may be a problem finding five people who are qualified and able to devote the time needed to serve as directors, especially during the period when Federal Funds will be applied for. This will no doubt entail a great amount of paper work as well as meetings with various agencies.

Without a District all matters of policy would have to be decided at Town Meetings which can be time consuming and boring to the average person.

Elwyn Dickey, Manager

Local citizens met at 7:30 p. m., April 15 and 22, at the Western Maine Supply store to organize in an effort to abolish zoning. It was the general feeling that zoning in its present form is based on the personal feelings of the Planning Board alone and does not represent the good of the town. Up until a petition was presented to abolish zoning completely, the Planning Board had not met for several months in spite of the fact issues had been put before them. It is evident that since suitable changes have not been made, and many feel that the only alternative is to get rid of all of it as it does not appear possible to abolish just parts of it.

Zoning was instituted by a majority vote of those voting at a town meeting. However, in order to abolish zoning a 2/3 vote is mandatory in order to carry. If 300 votes are cast—200 of these have to be to abolish zoning or it will stand as is. It has been petitioned to vote this article by Australian ballot and all persons interested should exercise their right to vote.

These meetings are open for people to discuss their views and offer suggestions. Come and express yourself. You are important and it does concern you and now! Tomorrow is too late.

All interested persons are invited to attend the next meeting April 29, same time and place. See you there!!!

GREENWOOD CITY

Mrs. Collette Morgan, Corres.

It was an afternoon of glorious sunshine when I set out afoot and alone, except for my camera, a constant companion. It didn't seem important where I wandered as long as I kept to the woods. All the air was quivering with bird sounds and drenched with sunshine. I kept far up the piney slopes for some distance and where I could look down upon the pond. The air was sweet with fragrance of the pine, the spruce and the fir. At a distance across the pond I could hear a solemn sounding waterfall and Sanborn River rushing with joyful enthusiasm; new life and new beauty unfolding all along its banks.

At last I reached the cliff directly above the road side where I could look clear down the face of the wall. It was pleasant from this high spot in the sunshine to watch the cars as they sped along with no thought of being observed from above.

This mass of granite in the winter looks like a steep falls enclosed in icicles, but now pushed with mosses on top, standing firm and solitary with the drip of water in front bathing it lightly.

The full expanse of Big Pond just beyond and the mouth of Sanborn River, where alder trees leaned, blended as one.

How fascinating a rock can be with the leaf shadows dancing, jumping on and off or settling to a gliding wait.

I turned my eyes to the changeless mountains beyond, then turned and climbed doggedly up through the brush following the ridge which made a gradual descent thus emerging just above home with thoughts of Nature's open and ever changing everyday beauty.

Then after this day as night drew on, the water which all day had shimmered in the sunlight began to take on a dark mirror of mystery. But presently a brilliant flame appeared above the horizon line a long strip of clear rose extending far to our west with here and there clouds whose ragged edges were also tipped with crimson. Sunset, heavens loveliness adding a final crown to earth's sublimity at day's close.

SUNDAY RIVER

Mrs. R. M. Fleet, Corres.
Darnita Yales spent the week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Myshrahl, in Brewster.

Michael Myshrahl of Andover, spent the first three days of the week with his cousins, Elden and Edwick Yales and the last part of the week Elden was with him in Andover.

Romeo Baker and daughter, Jane, and girl friend and son, Randy, and boy friend, of Plainfield, N. J., were here for the week, returning Sunday morning.

State Trooper Bickford was in town Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Linda Harrington and children were in Lewiston one day this vacation.

The Bethel fire department was called for a grass fire near the bridge on the Romeo Baker land. It did no damage and only burnt over a small piece of grass as the men were home and all joined the department. Mr. Baker asked that many thanks be said to all for prompt action.

Mrs. Lina Reynolds had to give up her work and return home as her back still bothers her.

The Central Maine Power Co. put the extension pole and wires up for Dr. Loy S. Harrell this week. So he is getting ready for action.

Well I was going to sort of keep this to myself but guess it got on the down wind and spread.

"20 SECONDS WITH THE NAZARENE"

"And He spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint;" Luke 18:1.

The victories won by prayer, By prayer must still be held. The foe retreats — but only when By prayer he is compelled. Something happens when we pray, Powers of evil lose their sway; Sin, disease and fear give way; Therefore, let us pray! (Selected)

Thessalonians is part of the Responsive Reading from the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches Sunday. The subject is "Probation After Death."

Among passages included from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is the following: "The divine demand, 'Be ye therefore perfect,' is scientific, and the human footsteps leading to perfection are indispensable. Individuals are consistent who, watching and praying, can 'run, and not be weary; walk, and not faint,' who gain good rapidly and hold their position, or attain slowly and yield not to discouragement. God requires perfection, but not until the battle between Spirit and flesh is fought and the victory won."

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Once again the question of zoning in Bethel crops up, and I am hopeful that this time the matter will be laid to rest so that the town may in concert devote itself to the work that needs to be done in the months ahead. Even though no longer a Bethel resident, my continuing interest leaves me concerned with the trend of the current arguments. The columns of the Citizen seem to reflect an increasing tendency to allow the debate to degenerate into personal recrimination and innuendo, which can in the end only lead to an emotional rather than a reasonable vote.

The question of personal and constitutional "rights" seems to loom large. Bethel is known across New England for its natural beauty; no long range plan for the town can function without recognition of the attraction the town holds for tourist, vacationer and future resident. Witness the economic gains generated by NTL and the growing number of summer and winter visitors. To throw out zoning at this time would be to throw out the baby with the bath water. On the other hand, there may well be justification for some change. I fervently hope that any change will be made on the basis of reason, logic and forethought rather than on emotionalism, that insistence on individual rights (a justly valued Maine asset) will not obscure the need to preserve the rights and welfare of the community.

April 22, 1968

To the Editor:

While living in Arizona I had the pleasure of watching a little ugly duckling of a town, named Scottsdale, grow into a beautiful swan. This town had about as much personality as a pan of cold dishwater until the Chamber of Commerce decided to take action and what they did was unbelievable! All of the merchants in this little village were approached and asked to put overhangs, such as you see in Western TV shows, over their store fronts. To add to the appearance they had bullet holes and worm holes etc. put into the posts to give the look of age. Then they started to splash the paint brushes and used all the colors imaginable until the place was a pastel rainbow. On the entrance to the town they put a huge sign stating that this was "The West's Most Western Town." That town today I believe is one of the most exclusive and beautiful spots in all of Arizona—and and it all came about because of some planning.

I would like to see our town have a little more individuality. I believe with some long range planning we can beautifully our Main Street so that people will enjoy coming to shop here. True, we do not want to look Western but what is wrong with a nice New England look?

I understand that the Odeon Hall is soon to be painted and it being one of the largest buildings in our town could pave the way for others to follow suit. My own choice would be the dark brown of the Sudbury since that has recently been done and is very attractive with its white shutters and flower boxes filled with geraniums. If all of the merchants would paint the same color or when they paint I'm sure that many organizations would be glad to do their part in furthering the project and there is no limit to how it could grow from there.

Sincerely,

Susan Farrar

Dear Editor,

There's an old Indian saying—people who live in straw tepees shouldn't play with fire! And I, for one feel that some people in this community have been playing with a particular kind of fire, called zoning, long enough. If we do not want all of our homesteads touched we had better act now to stop this destructive fire of zoning whose flames lick here and there without any rhyme or reason.

For as some of us have witnessed here in Bethel there appears to be no reasonable action in the flames of the zoning fire, particularly in one of the flames, the Occupancy Permit. Some people build homes and are spared of this permit. Extensive renovation has been performed on a particular mill in town and the permit flame doesn't seem to have touched it. On the other hand, certain homes that may need renovation stand directly in line of the zoning fire if they can't buy a chunk of their neighbor's yard or push their foundation back thirty-five feet from the road.

I think we need all the volunteers we can get to help put out this zoning fire. Some of us have already experienced how frustrating it can be to confront the Burning Board. Our complaints are put up with, while the powers—that is—be decide where the flames are going to hit. I think it is high time we listened to those old Indians of the land rather than to the Johnny Come Latels of the Urban-age. If we need some sort of code to help build a better Bethel let us look to the town of Farmington or our own capital of Augusta, who have used workable building codes rather than unreasonable zoning fire to improve their respective communities.

Just one more thing. Why did the population of Bethel drop more than any other town in Oxford County during the six years from 1960 to 1966?

Sincerely,

R. Glenn Murphy

To the Editor:

There seems to be quite a lot of concern over the coming special town meeting, with regards to the zoning ordinances that we have in this town (Bethel).

I wonder if all the citizens of this community who are so fond of talking and griping about the situation, realize that all they have to do is to go to the polls in the upcoming special meeting and vote for the abolishment of this law.

It also seems funny that the planning board has never taken the time to explain the ordinance before this time. Many of us were born in this town and have four or more generations who were before them, and they seemed to survive without such restrictions and laws. It seems to me that Mr. Nutting wasn't too far from the fact when he mentioned Dictatorship, for when three people have the right to say what we shall do with our property, it is getting awfully close to the fact. I also understand that in several cases it has been one of these three who has opposed the request.

It also seems that a committee of this power should be elected by vote of the town not appointed to office.

Now let me remind all of the voters of this town and state, of one of the few privileges by law that can not be infringed upon and that is the right to vote, so let's all vote at the coming special town meeting.

EVENING EXTENSION

The Bethel Evening Extension is offering a series of classes in Basic Clothing Construction beginning Tuesday, April 30, at the Home Economics Cottage at 7:30 p. m. This is Unit III of the Sew Right Method for "Making a Dress"; therefore, these classes will appeal to the more experienced person rather than the beginner. A preliminary discussion meeting regarding pattern sizes and new fabrics will be held at Abbie Brown's on Thursday, April 25, at 7:30 p. m. for all who find this time convenient. Other interested women should contact Sylvia Benson or Elizabeth Wheeler for this instruction before the first meeting in order that all may start with the same information. A tape measure is all that will be needed for the first meeting; however, on April 30, one should have a pattern, fabric for dress and all necessary findings.

The Meat Clinic was held on Tuesday night. There was an exceptionally large attendance with over 80 women there. Five of those women were lucky enough to win the wonderful door prizes. They were Beatrice Favreau, Caroline Merrill, Alberta Merrill, Barbara James, Libby Bane. Refreshments were served after the meeting. A special thanks to Lidstone's IGA and Russell Brown for the enjoyable evening.

Mrs. Rex Martin and children of Welchville; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Krasen, Tony and Wanda, and Miss Carole Grenier of Lewiston; Mr. and Mrs. Duane Dingley, Stafford Springs, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Hanscom Sr., David, Nancy and Brian, Mrs. Pete Wheeler, Bethel; Mrs. Donald Keene Sr., West Poland; Mr. and Mrs. Vance Keene, Jonathan and Ellen Marie, Lisbon; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Churchill, Buckfield; Mrs. Roland Martin, Mrs. Dwight Martin and Jane, Amanda Bowlers, and Leland Farr.

INDUSTRIAL ZONE EXPLAINED BY PLANNING BOARD

This week's article on planning and zoning will cover the Industrial zone.

After the Sewell Company studied the land in Bethel and its suitability for industrial use, the question of how and where growth should take place was carefully considered. At the time of the study 31 acres of the compact urban land was used for industrial purposes, and outside the compact area 14.8 acres were used industrially. These areas were placed into the industrial zones. Next, it was necessary to set aside areas that would be available for future industries to use. There are certain standards that land must meet to be generally favorable for industrial use. The best land for industrial use should be level, well-drained and above the flood plain. In addition, location along the railroad is more likely to encourage industrial development. It is the purpose of zoning and planning to preserve some of the sites that meet these standards. These areas should not be in conflict with residential neighborhoods or businesses.

Uses permitted by the zoning ordinance include: industries (they must meet Federal and State standards of water and air pollution); businesses serving the above industries; public utility; transportation or communication facilities; warehouses, truck terminals and storage facilities; bulk oil and fuel stations; research facilities; and residential uses for a watchman, caretaker, janitor or itinerant worker not including their families. This housing must be owned and controlled by the employer and subject to the approval of the building inspector. Houses are discouraged in the industrial zone in order to prevent accidents to families living on the industrial site and to reduce fire danger. It is also important to save prime industrial sites for future industrial use; once houses locate on these sites, the sites are lost for industrial use.

Junk yards and automobile grave yards would not be generally appropriate without restriction in this zone, but if controlled as to number, location, relation to the neighborhood and how they are maintained, they may be permitted if they are approved by the Board of Appeals. In order to prevent crowding and fire hazard certain lot size requirements are necessary.

At the present time the Planning Board is considering proposals to amend the permitted uses within the industrial zone. These would give permission to mobile homes, provided they are not located on the same lot as an industry; gasoline service stations; and would permit the extension and/or improvement of single family dwellings existing prior to March 6, 1967 so long as they remain as single family dwellings.

Mrs. Virgie McMillin and Miss Kay McMillin were in Portland Thursday looking at mobile homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Brown and family of the Rumford road left Tuesday for their new home in Michigan.
